Corsica, originally French, was occupied by Italians and Nazis after Allies landed North Africa. Sardinia, an Italian possession since 1858, probably has its share of Germans on guard. Early action is expected here as the Allies seek to seize these islands that lie on the attack routes into southern France.

NEWS FROM EVERYWHERE

URBANA-CHAMPAIGN, ILL. — The University of Illinois has plans formulated to meet squarely and immediately the individual educational needs of returning veterans. The term "veterans" is used to include demobilized men and women from both the armed services and the war industries. Under the proposed plans, a special committee would handle problems of admission and curriculum and extensive use would be made of the University Personnel Bureau and its testing activities to place and guide veterans in their university work.

AUSTIN, TEXAS.—Texans know what they want the world to know about their state. More than 10,000 topics have been suggested for inclusion in the encyclopedia Handbook of Texas.

ITHACA, NEW YORK.—AST's Marines and V-2's at Cornell did not find time dragging on Sunday this summer. Many of the servicemen stationed on the campus lent helping hands harvesting beans for farmers around the campus who were plucked by the hands-on shortage. On one Sunday more than 15 servicemen pitched in to harvest more than 60,000 pounds of beans.

COLLEGE PARK, MD.—"Apple pie is what I need" cried the service men over seas. So the government decided to do its best to give them their morale-boosting apple pie and carrots and sweet potatoes to cut down night blindness. The task finally wound up in the hands of the University of Maryland horticulture and agricultural engineering departments, who have worked in cooperation with the government and food agencies to develop an efficient system of food preservation. They finally solved the problem of shipping pie to both hot and cold climates by working out an approved set

PUBLICATIONS

Miss Esther Shubert is organizing for the library a section which will deal entirely with material of high college. She would like to receive copies of all programs of school events, including dramatic productions, athletic games, and concerts. She would also like to receive copies of any printed or mimeographed material which each department may issue. It is necessary to have two copies of each item which is turned into the library.

Mrs. Wesley Reynolds, formerly Miss Ora Thomas, a former member of this faculty, has a chapter, "The Teaching of History in the United States During the Classic Period of Education" in A History and Criticism of American Public Address. The editors of this book feel that Mrs. Reynolds has made a distinctive contribution in research by this chapter, which was a significant piece of work.

Just ask the Emile Hegys what The American Spirit means

They know how precious is this thing that ONLY AMERICANS HAVE... for they fled a land where it never existed

Emile and Marie Hegys were born and lived in Alsace Lorraine when their country was under the heel of a foreign conqueror. In May 1942, they freed themselves from the political and economic uncertainty that governed their daily lives and came to America.

Emile started work as a common laborer in the L & N car shop at Birmingham, Alabama. Soon these came a proud day when he and Marie became full-fledged citizens in a land where individual rights and freedoms were guaranteed.

On December 7, 1941, war came to America... their America now. That day found the one-time "common laborer," Emile Hegys, a valued L & N veteran in a good paying job, earned on merit... a thing that would have been impossible in a land where men's lives are lived under government decree and a common laborer must remain a common laborer until he dies.

Hardly before war was declared next day, Emile and Marie Hegys bought a $1,000 Defense Bond, the first $1,000 bond sold that day in Birmingham. Then, as fast as they could convert investments into cash, the Hegys bought more bonds. Today, a substantial part of every L & N pay check to Emile Hegys goes for the purchase of still more War Bonds.

Emile and Marie would tell you that they are buying all the War Bonds that make possible our arsenal of freedom today. It is the Spirit that will never die, so long as we remain free to serve in our own individual ways, for our own individual betterment.

That is the Spirit that laid the railroads, dug the mines, built the factories that make possible our arsenal of freedom today. It is the Spirit that will never die, so long as we remain free to serve in our own individual ways, for our own individual betterment.

President LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE RAILROAD

The L & N like other railroads that sleep in the western corner of the continent, is a part of the American Spirit. And only by the Spirit, our nation has grown strong because free men have been able to harness their savings in productivity to produce more goods and services than ever before. Individually or collectively, every person has made his own contribution to the American Spirit. It is the Spirit that will continue to contribute to the nation's development of the South.
